Makatea

Surrounded by cliffs rising nearly 240 feet, Makatea is the only atoll in the Tuamotus with potable water from underground caves. Once prosperous from phosphate mining (1917–1964), it is now sparsely inhabited, with locals living from copra cultivation, fishing, and trading the coconut crab (Kaveu).

Passengers will disembark by tender at Temoa Wharf and explore the island on foot or by car. Highlights include the sacred caves and the remains of Makatea’s phosphate mining era. A picnic is served under the cliffs or on the beach.

Passengers will disembark by tender at Pahua Wharf and be greeted with a traditional “Orero” performance. The village is just a 5-minute walk from the dock and can be explored at your leisure.

Optional excursions include visits to Turtle Rock, the Paure marae, the phosphate pond, the bird motu, and the “pito” of Mataiva (sign-up at reception). 4x4 vehicles will transport guests to a private beach for a picnic and lagoon activities.

Anaa

Anaa, birthplace of Tahiti’s Pomare royal family, is renowned for its sparkling jade lagoon and white-sand motus. Most locals are engaged in copra production or fishing, supported by a sustainable fishing program. Look out for the feo, the giant fossilized coral blocks unique to the atoll.

Passengers will disembark by tender at Tukahora Pier. Explore the village by bus or on foot, and try fly-fishing in the shallow, crystal-clear lagoon. A picnic lunch is served on the beach in Tukahora village.
